IS HIS FACE RED?

The Republican party in California, with the exception of Governor Merriam and those holding fat jobs under him like Friend
Richardson, is unanimously in favor of sending an uninstrated delegation to the national convention.

Why the governor should even want to go to the gathering of the clan, let alone entertain the foolish notion with which he seems to be obsessed that he is presidential timber, or anyway vice-presidential material, is a mystery to me.

It would seem that his presence at such a gathering would prove rather embarrassing to him. Just about a week ago the chief executive indulged in a fulsome eulogy
of President Roosevelt. Of course that was his privilege, if he felt that way, but there immediately
ensued a terrific uproar among the faithful followers of the elephant.
The attack launched by Merriam subsequently on the national administration has failed to appease
the wrath of Republican leaders
and the rank and file of the party,
and the repercussions are continuing without abatement in volume.

Now wouldn't Mr. Merriam's face
assume a roseate hue, if at the convention he chanced to be a candidate and some unfeeling person
would call the attention of the delegates to his pro-Roosevelt pronouncement?

The governor, it is regrettable
to say, has tried to essay the role of opportunist but has made a dismal failure of it. Despite his age
his eyesight seems strong enough to discern from straws which way
the economic and political winds
are blowing and he then fails all

Two Injured When Struck By Machines

Two persons were injured in automobile accidents in Richmond
yesterday, according to police reports.

Gene Bianchi, 324 Forty-second street, Oakland, sustained bad cuts
and bruises when he was struck
and knocked down by a car at Eleventh street and Macdonald avenue. Bianchi was treated at the offices of Dr. Kahn Dally. He reported the accident to local police
several hours after it had happened. He was unable to give the police any details.

John Herbert Payne, 4, of 216
Fourth street sustained a fractured
left arm and a fractured left leg
and possible internal injuries
when he was struck by a truck at Elighth street and Bissell avenue yesterday afternoon. The boy was riding a tricycle at the time of the crash.

According to the story told police,
the child was following his mother
across the street when the truck approached. She shouted at her son to hurry, and W. R. Yates, 23,
of 544 Forty-fifth street, Oakland,
driver of the vehicle became confused, thought that she was calling to him and turned his head.
He failed to see the baby.

The injured child was treated by Dr. U. S. Abbott and Dr. L. Abbott
Hedges at the Abbott Emergency hospital. He was later removed to a local hospital.

Local School Boy Reported To Be Missing

Richmond police last night were asked to search for Ricardo Rubalcoba, 15 year old Richmond boy, who was reported missing by his aunt, Mrs. Maria Chavez of 416 C street.

The boy left for school on Tuesday morning and hasn't been seen since. He is reported to be short and stout and has black hair. The tip of the middle finger of his right hand is missing.

Police were unable to get a description of the boy's clothing.

WAR ORDERS ISSUED IN N. Y. STRIKE

NEW YORK, March 5.—UP—
The order went out from elevator strike headquarters tonight to "tie up every building
in town" that has not signed a union contract.

It marked the end of arbitration
and the start of a tooth and claw fight. Strikers unleashed all their power in an attempt to beat down
the owners of New York's skyscraper office buildings, apartment
houses and hotels. The Realty Advisory Board accepted the challenge and redoubled its efforts to keep elevators running and furnaces burning in thousands of buildings.

IN CONFERENCE
Just after he issued the order to
"give 'em the works," James J.
Bambrick, head of the New York
Building Service Employees union, went to the office of District Attorney William C. Dodge to explain what he meant when he threatened to "tear down the town
and fight it out in the streets."
With him went George Scallie,
vice president of the international union.

"Nobody is going to create disorder while I am district attorney," Dodge said at the start of the conference.

The conference lasted two hours
and Bambrick and Scallie left, smiling.

"I questioned them for some time," Dodge said. "I wanted to find out if they were making
speeches inciting people to violence."

S. F. Pastor Is Speaker At M.E. Dinner Meeting

The broadening influence of the church was told to members of Men's Fellowship of the Wesley Methodist church last evening by Dr. James Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church of San Francisco.

Dr. Pierce declared that activities of the church are no longer confined to the four walls of the church building, but that the church
is now playing an active part in world affairs, in peace and war and in the government of our peoples.

Dr. Pierce's talk was heard by a crowd of more than 80 persons. A delicious dinner was served by the ladies of Circle No. 3 of the Wesley aid under the direction of Mrs.
Herbert Whalen.

Dr. H. F. Doran, pastor of the church, introduced the speaker.
Herbert Riggesworth, the president, presided.

20-30 Club At Business Meet

discussed last evening when the Richmond 20-30 Club held its meeting at the Hotel Carquinez. H.
Van Swearingen presided over the session.

At the next meeting the club will hear a prominent speaker, it was announced.

Husband Held On Wife Charge

Arrested on the complaint of his wife, Cornelius O'Keefe, of 2931
San Luis street, Richmond Annex,
was lodged in the city jail last
evening.

O'Keefe is awaiting hearing in police court this morning on charges of battery. His wife alleges that her husband beat her severely.

Dam Turned Over

Gen. Frank T. Crowe, left, of the Six Companies, turns over the 100-million dollar Boulder Dam to the United States Government, represented by Ralph Lowry, right, of the Bureau of Reclamation. A payroll of 520 workers, still employed on the project, automatically was shifted to the Federal Government.

Aged Man Is Found Dead In His Home Here

An inquest is pending here in the death of George Gilmore, who was found dead in his home at 547 El-landson avenue, Richmond, shortly before nine o'clock yesterday morning.

Gilmore, who was 74 years of age,
was a retired government worker.
Death it is believed was due to a heart ailment.

Gilmore had been ill for the past several years. Yesterday his neighbor, Mrs. N. Moosher, of 657 South Thirty-second street, failed to see Gilmore around his place and walked to the house to inquire.
When no one answered her knocks
at the door, she looked through the window and saw that Gilmore was dead in bed.

Police and the coroner's office
were called and the body was taken to the Wilson and Kratzer chapel.
Funeral services have been set for Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.
Gilmore was a native of Florida
and had lived in this area for the past five years. He retired about ten years ago after 50 years in government service on dredges and tugs.
He leaves no known relatives in this area.

Y. M. I. Council Will Pay Honor To Lodge Cagers

A banquet in honor of the lodge's basketball team was planned last evening when the Richmond Y. M. I. Council held its meeting at the Memorial hall.

Jerry Riordan reported on the activities of the basketball team,
which concluded its season last
evening.

Members of the lodge will join with the Knights of Columbus on Sunday at a quarterly communion
to be held at St. Mark's church.
Breakfast will follow at Hotel Car-quinez. Father Michael Reilly, who is religious advisor at the home
for the deaf, dumb and blind, will be the speaker.

On March 14 the lodge will join with the Y. L. in a St. Patrick's day ball.
M. Nugent, Jr., presided over the

Lid Clamped Down On U. S. Navy Spy Quiz

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—UP—
The State Department tonight
clamped a lid of silence over investigation into an alleged "spy
plot" in the United States navy,
after it was disclosed assertedly
stolen information included not only charts of fleet maneuvers, but gunnery and aircraft secrets.

Naval sources indicated these secrets would be of more vital importance than advance information
on maneuvers of the battle fleet,
assertedly stolen from the navy
and peddled in an "international spy market."

The inquiry abruptly was jerked
out of Federal grand jury sessions,
and investigators instructed to gather additional data. United States Attorney Peirson M. Hall
said further details would be presented the grand jury next Wednesday.

Meanwhile Federal agents sought
an unnamed "Oriental," assertedly
paymaster for the "spy market,"
who paid regular salaries to actively engaged in pilfering secrets
from the navy.

Although it had been reported
the "pay off man" fled the country
at the opening of the present inquiry, Federal Department of Justice agents indicated they had reason to believe he was still in the United States.

New Carpenter Scale Approved

MARTINEZ, March 5.—Announcement was made today that the carpenters' union has accepted a wage scale proposed at a meeting here
February 18 of carpenters and contractors.

The new scale provides $1 per hour from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and 40 hours a week, with time and one-half for the first four hours
after 5 p. m., and double time thereafter with double time for Saturdays and holidays.

The scale is made effective on all contracts after March 1, but work on contracts will be finished at the old scale.

The Contra Costa scale previously was $7.20 per day.
Several hundred men in the county will be affected by the new scale.

WORKERS TO GET TRAVEL COSTS PAID

Success has crowned the efforts of the local unit of the WPUU to obtain transportation
for WPA workmen employed on the naval project at the Mare Island naval yards, it was learned yesterday.

Captain C. A. Carlson, U. S. N., manager of the naval project, yesterday issued a notice to all workers that the WPA has granted authority to furnish transportation to such WPA employees "as are subjected to excessive expense for transportation to and from work
on the project on the basis of employment of owner-driven cars."
This will apply only to relief workers and to men outside the immediate vicinity of Vallejo.

PAY FOR DRIVERS
Under the proposal, owner-operators of automobiles will be paid to transport workers to the project.
The rate of pay will be $4 per month. Car drivers will be selected

Suit To Return Oil Tax Money Is Submitted

MARTINEZ, March 5.—Upon stu-
diation of attorneys, demurrers to three complaints filed by the Philippine Refining company, seeking recovery of $2,337.20 in taxes paid
under protest to the county of Contra Costa and city of Richmond,
have been submitted to Superior Judge A. F. Bray on briefs.

The action against Richmond
asks return of $364.20 while two complaints are against the county,
one for $1,444 and one for $529.

Briefs are to be filed at intervals of 10, 10 and 10 days with the defendant filing the opening and closing briefs in each instance.

The demurrers claim that the complaints do not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. City Attorney T. M. Carlson represents the city of Richmond
while Deputy District Attorney Homer Patterson is representing the county.

INTERSTATE CLAIM
It is claimed by the refining
company that on March 5, 1934,
the county assessor levied assessments upon 4,435,850 pounds of coconut oil in the company's plant at San Pablo. The company later
paid the taxes under protest.

The Philippine Refining firm alleges the coconut oil was in transit in the process of interstate commerce and was therefore not taxable.

Mae West And Paramount Are All Washed Up

HOLLYWOOD, March 5.—UP—Billowy Mae West tonight ended a long and beautiful friendship with Paramount Production, under whose banner she soared to cinema success, by what appeared to be mutual consent.

Paramount, assertedly "fed up on Miss West's temperament" notified her the studio considered her contract terminated.

Miss West got into a row with her employers when she asserted
they had violated her contract by failing to have a picture ready for her last July.

Haile Accepts Peace Proposal; British Red Cross Unit Is Bombed

GENEVA, March 5.—UP—Emperor Haile Selassie tonight
accepted the League of Nations appeal to make peace with Italy
"within the framework of the League."

The reply was received at the League secretariat at 8 P. M.
Italy has not replied to the appeal of the committee of 13
and is not likely to until after Premier Benito Mussolini meets with his cabinet Saturday.

NINETEEN KILLED
ADDIS ABABA, March 5.—UP—Nineteen people, including three patients in the British ambulance unit, were killed yesterday when the Italian military airplane S62,
bombed Korem, the government announced today.

Four patients were hurt seriously.
Several Red Cross attendants, natives of Kenya colony, were wounded.

CHILDREN KILLED
The dead included four children,
two women and 10 non-combatant
peasants.
A communique said there were
neither rifles nor anti-aircraft guns
at the British Red Cross camp.

Dr. Andrea John Kelly, leader of the British ambulance unit, telegraphed from Korem that before the bombing, Italian planes circled Korem nine times, flying low over the tent hospital pitched in the town plaza.

Highway First Aid Project Is Making Progress

Considerable progress is being made on the first aid on the highways idea, J. H. Miller, the chairman of the committee having the matter in charge, reported at the monthly meeting of the Richmond
Chapter of the Red Cross last evening. It is hoped there will be trained men in all service stations in the near future who will be competent to handle emergency work.

The program given under the supervision of Mrs. Claire Schmidt, hospital recreation chairman, for the shut-ins at the U. S. Naval hospital at Mare Island was declared to have been an unqualified success. Another program will be given shortly.

A class in junior first aid has been started by the chapter, with an enrollment of 37 youngsters, who are very much interested in this subject.

The chapter Worker's Institute
of the Red Cross in Central California will be held in Fresno, March 20 to April 3 inclusive. Several of the members are contemplating to take advantage of the course.

National Chairman Admiral Cary
T. Grayson announced that the annual convention of the Red Cross will be held in Chicago, Ill May 11
to 14.

W. J. Richards, chairman, presided
last night.

Farley Enters Insanity Plea

MARTINEZ, March 5.—James Farley, 21, who has assertedly admitted approximately 100 bay district burglaries, has entered an insanity plea in a Los Angeles robbery case. Sheriff John A. Miller was advised today by Los Angeles
authorities.

Farley has entered a plea of guilty to the robbery charge but has submitted one of not guilty by reason of insanity. He will be tried on his insanity plea and if adjudged
sane will face prison commitment.

Authorities claim that Farley has admitted the $2,180 burglary of the El Cerrito home of Joseph Greenway, an official of the Ford Motor company plant at Richmond and burglaries in San Francisco, Oakland and Piedmont.

New Victim Of Murder Ring Found

SACRAMENTO, March 5.—UP—Kartar Singh, an obscure, 55 year-old Hindu who saved $2240 for a trip to India, only to die on the eve of his sailing, tonight appeared to be the 34th victim of a weird California murder ring.

Kartar's body was found in the Sacramento river, six miles north of Sacramento. His skull had been crushed, apparently by repeated
blows. Kartar disappeared January 19, but his body was located until Monday.

Today authorities found a $2,100
certified check and $30 in cash in Kartar's safe deposit box in a Marysville bank. Approximately $50 was found on his body.

It was apparent that robbery
could not have been the motive for his slaying. Coroner Jack Garibaldi said he believed Kartar might have been killed by some debtor, who
resisted his efforts to collect money
due before he left the United States.

Oakland Woman Is Speaker At Townsend Meet

When Townsend Club No. 2 met last evening on Twelfth street, the group heard Mrs. Jack King, of Oakland, discuss the Townsend

Mrs. King was one of the first Townsend speakers ever to appear here. She addressed a meeting of local clubs about 18 months ago.

4 ALAMEDA OFFICIALS UNDER FIRE

ALAMEDA, March 5.—UP—Roaring their disapproval of city politics, which assertedly
resulted in dismissal of School Superintendent William
G. Faden, 10,000 residents of Alameda gathered in mass
meeting here tonight and started a movement to recall the mayor, city manager, and two
city councilmen.

At the same time, 3000 striking
boys and girls met in another part of town and staged a monster bonfire rally at which they burned
dummies of municipal officials.

PARENTS PROTEST
Cordons of police were thrown
around city buildings and schools
as crowds of parents, incensed by recent political activities, threatened to establish a de facto government and take the administration hall by storm.

Oral approval was given by the mob meeting in front of the Alameda high school to proposals that Mayor Hans Roebka, Councilmen
Bruce Munro and Charles Broyles
be "run out of office."

CITY MANAGER HIT
Resentment also flared against City Manager Ray Fitz, as petitions

crowd asking his ouster.

Road Fund Plea To Be Made To Highway Board

A plea will be made to the State highway commission this morning
at 11 o'clock in Sacramento for a sufficient allocation of funds to build the short cut between Willow Pass and Franklin Canyon for the proposed Arnold Industrial highway.

Supervisor James N. Lons of this city and Mayor W. W. Scott will make the trip together. The other members of the board of supervisors and County Engineer R. R.
Arnold will also attend, leaving from Martinez.

The highway commission has heretofore admitted the feasibility
and economic possibilities of this highway but has maintained that it has not money available that could be applied to the project.
Those interested in the construction of this road which means so much to the industrial prosperity
of the county and Richmond in particular, this city being its terminus,
are determined to keep the fight hot
until the objective is attained.

Hint Of Verdict Given By Court In Damage Suit

MARTINEZ, March 5.—Indicating his intention of giving judgment to the plaintiff, Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston today had taken under submission the $12,000 automobile injury action filed by Malcolm Schmidt against Peter Rampanti and V. Angil.

The judge took the case under submission late yesterday and indicated his judgment would favor
the plaintiff, but wanted further consideration on the amount.

Schmidt claimed he suffered a fractured skull and other injuries
in an automobile collision near Mosher Lane and San Pablo avenue, El Cerrito, on September 26, 1935.

Attorney Jesse Nichols, T. M.

FROSH CINDER SQUAD FACES TOUGH FOES

BURKELEY, March 5—Opening the 1936 season one week ahead of the varsity, the University of California freshman track team will meet the perennially powerful Sacramento junior college cinder squad Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Edwards stadium.

Sacramento, chief nemesis of young teams of the past few years, is reported stronger than ever this season with such stars as Claude McWilliams, former San Francisco prep star in the mile and broad jump, and two up-and-coming dashmen in Jack Parker and Eldred Ranges. Two other standouts are Humphrey, 1437 high hurdler, and Snodgrass, 880 runner, who last year shined 1:59.

While the Bear yearlings are still somewhat short of work, owing to poor weather training, several youngsters are expected to show good early-season form. Among them are Jerry Trumbly, sprinter from Oakland; Bob Canning, high jumper from Berkeley; Charles Menier, miler from Berkeley; Richard Briggs, 440 and 880 runner from Oakland; Keith Monroe, 12-foot pole vaulter from Los Angeles; Harry Boland, discus tosser from Oakland; Dave Anderson, javelin thrower from Los Angeles; and a trio of broad jumpers, Guy Manuel, from Vacaville and George Kilo and Roy Teshima of Alameda.

FIGHT CARD AT GARDEN BEST YET OFFERED

A banner crowd of a corking card, every bout being in the main event category, marked the fightest program at the Madison Square Gardens at El Cerrito last night.

The fight card between Joe Ragson and Buddy Sousa, the fifth on the program, was the outstanding offering. The boys were willing and tangled without apparent fear of consequences. Sousa earned the decision by a small margin.

The opener did not last long. Watt Fernandez putting his opponent, Modesto Valmora, in the land of dreams with a stiff punch in the first round.

The Hernandez family was very much in evidence last evening. Al Hernandez, furnishing the entertainment in the third canto in a contest with Lee Grand. Al floored his opponent in the third round but Grand came back fighting in the fourth and got a draw. In the second event Gus Sousa took a decision from Caesar Fernandez.

Joe Allen got a decision over Elmer McKay while Chris Harzosa and Nash Perez fought to a draw. Tom Sezulia was given the referee's nod in his fight contention with Doug Gava.

The main event was between E. McPhillips and U. Wedge, with the first named U. being crowned the winner.

By virtue of their victory the Malik team will meet the winners of the A Division for the city championship.

It was a nip and tuck game throughout, with the lead see-sawing from start to finish. Marcos was high man for the winners with eight points and Mello got seven for the losers.

Y. M. I. WINS

In the second game of the evening, the Y. M. I. Club defeated the Denver Inn team in a good game. However, the Denver Inn club had forfeited the game because all of its players did not appear. Smersfelt of the Johnson team played for the Innors and made 24 points.

S. F. SYMPHONY TO PLAY AT BERKELEY

Pierre Monteaux, conductor of the San Francisco symphony, orchestra has chosen the following program for its Berkeley concert in the gym for men on Sunday, March 15 at 3:15 P. M.: Robert Schumann's Symphony No. 4 in D Minor, Chopin Concerto in B Minor, with Alexander Brailowsky at the piano, the Overture to the "Flying Dutchman," Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun," and Liszt's "Totentans."

Brailowsky's most recent tour has confirmed critics in their opinion that no other living artist achieves the same perfect union of Chopin's spirit with his own, and can recreate as does he the very essence of the composer. And the same appreciation is now being made of his triumph as an interpreter of Liszt. Brailowsky is the only artist who in recent years played to sold out houses in such cities as Copenhagen and Paris.

HOW TO KEEP WELL IN WINTER

Winter remains our most unhealthful season, and many people are sick during the winter months from colds, sore throats, influenza, etc. However, I believe that winter would be just as healthful as any other time of year, providing that people learn now to follow the rules of right living, avoiding the common mistakes which lower the health. In fact, I will go farther and say that people should actually feel their best during the winter when the cold season arrives to stimulate and exhilarate them. It is well known that those people living in the cold northern countries are among the most vigorous in the world. Because cold makes people energetic, much of the serious work which is accomplished is done during the winter.

Some of the ordinary winter dangers are infections of the breathing passages, rheumatism, constipation, over eating, over heating of homes, dressing too warmly, lack of outdoor exercise, and breathing air which is too dry.

I am going to outline some rules for healthful living for you to follow, which, if faithfully observed, should protect your health in every way.

1. The most important item to watch is your diet. The cold weather sharpens the appetite and leads to over consumption of the starches and sugars while a scarcity of fresh vegetables makes it more difficult to serve balanced meals. A good winter diet would be one similar to that suggested in this newspaper every Friday. Foods which should be supplied are meat, variety of vegetables (including the canned ones and also the root vegetables such as carrots, beets, turnips, rutabaga, etc.), dried fruits and canned fruits, and a moderate amount of starch. Vitamin C will be supplied by using oranges, grapefruit or canned tomatoes. Ice cream should be considered an excellent winter food, as it is a fuel food.

2. Dress just warmly enough to remain comfortable, but not enough to perspire. Add a sweater indoors if needed.

3. Exercise every day, out of doors if possible. Brisk, active exercise helps to build health at any season.

4. Keep the home at a fire warm but not over heated. Humidity simply means the amount of moisture in the air. Many people keep the air at home too dry; in fact, it is almost as dry as that of the desert.

5. Obtain sufficient sleep. Fatigue may predispose you to a cold.

6. Secure all of the winter sunshine possible. If you use a sun lamp, follow the advice given regarding the length of time of exposure.

7. When you feel tired and overworked, avoid crowds. Disease spreads most quickly during the winter because people are crowded together indoors.

Follow the above rules and I am sure that you will keep well during the remainder of the winter and you will do your best work when the weather is at its worst.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Pus Pockets May Cause Rise in Temperature)
Question: From S. K.: "I have several bad pus pockets on my tonsils and I notice that I have been running a temperature once in a while. An X-ray of the chest and sputum examination shows that I do not have tuberculosis. What do you think is wrong with me?"

Answer: The presence of the pus pockets in the tonsils might be sufficient to cause an occasional rise in temperature.

(Pure Tomato Juice Now on Market)

Question: Clyde writes: "I have been wondering if there is any way that I could buy plain tomato juice in cans such as you recommend."

Answer: Yes, several companies are canning pure tomato juice and, if you will go to the market, I feel sure that you will find a brand which is entirely satisfactory to you.

(Daughters Still Wet Bed)

Question: "A hopeful mother" writes: "My daughters are aged eight and ten and they still wet the bed. Could you help me to teach them to overcome this habit?"

Answer: Before I could give you any advice I would need to know more details. In some cases enuresis or bed wetting is due to bladder weakness; in other cases it may have a psychological basis and sometimes it is simply the result of a bad habit. I am going to ask you to write to me again, giving your name and address and enclosing a large, self-addressed envelope and ten cents, so that I may send you an article along this line. The article is available to anyone desiring a copy.

Good, Hard Manual Labor Often an Excellent Aid for "Nervous Wrecks"

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

A DISTINGUISHED woman writer recently used the phrase, "Nervous as a witch" when she described the case of a friend who had had a crowded week and had lost her self-control. She must think of a witch as high strung, temperamental, given to nervous reactions. I don't really know how

To gain this understanding, you must have a general knowledge of the system as a whole. You have to read the whole Shakespearean play to appreciate what Macbeth means when he begs his physician for some antidote to cleanse him of "that terrible stuff which weighs upon the heart." We find him referring to a "mind diseased," a "rooted sorrow" and "written troubles of the brain." But these things are real diseases and we concede at once that they are types of disease that attack the nerve tissues themselves, or the nerve centers, or the sheaths in which the nerves are encased.

Are Witches Nervous?

In the list we can find neuritis, a long list of neuralgias, and even neuromas, though their classification is somewhat obscure.

In any medical treatise you can find a definite statement like this: A nerve is irritable at all points in its course.

After all, "nervous as a witch" doesn't usually come into the category of actual nervous disease. Strange, isn't it, that the most common type of nervousness, especially among persons who use their lack of nerve control as an alibi, is found where circumstances permit a fairly wide choice of living habits.

When the trouble seems to grow out of a congestion of happenings, of having too many people around, of cherished plans upset, it is quite likely the person complaining has entirely too many opportunities at hand to indulge in his own desires. He or she has as a rule chosen too many things in which to be interested, too much activity.

The very choice of behavior or the lack of necessity leaves one without the prod of obligation which so often is helpful in keeping nerves on an even balance. On the other hand, some unexpected responsibility may upset one's control for a time.

In my own connection, my chief problem is an able young man who has been suddenly thrust into a responsible and exacting position. In spite of his evident qualifications he is perfectly sure that the authorities over him are going to mistake in reports, or has committed an error in judgment or someone in his office might not have done his work exactly. In short, he has a genuine case of nerves and we are devoting an immense amount of affectionate interest to sympathizing, coddling and otherwise encouraging his disturbed state.

We come to this point with the conviction that most "nervous wrecks" get that way not through disease but through a combination of circumstances which prove irritable and trying beyond the ability of the patient to retain control. We call these cases neuroses rather than nervous diseases.

Restless and Worried

A certain famous neurologist calculates that three-fourths of all those who hunt up a physician are nervous cases. They seek not only one but two or three or more medical advisers, the very nature of their cases making them restless and worried.

All too often they fall into the hands of quacks and nostrum peddlers whose powers of suggestion are able to afford them temporary relief.

Suggestion, did I say? Yes, it is all too true that psychological and not medical relief is often what they need.

In repeated surveys it has been conclusively proved that this nervous wreckage is seldom, if ever, the result of actual manual overwork. Vocational therapy, or the use of the hands in some routine work, is sometimes the means of salvaging an undone nervous system and bringing it under control.

Short Cuts

Glossy leaved plants should be dusted off with a damp cloth from time to time.

Do not leave water in saucers underneath potted plants. It has a tendency to make the soil acid.

Eggs are extended when packed in dry cereals are used in an omelet. Also, cooked left-over cereal may be used in the same way. This little trick not only increases the omelet but improves the flavor as well.

Historian's Wife Who Praises Women

By TALBOT LAKE

DR. CHARLES A. BEARD, noted historian of Columbia Teachers' College, leaps into the newspaper headlines when he charges, before an educational conference in St. Louis, that the liberty of American schools is imperilled by fanatics. That, of course, creates quite a splash in the calm pool of American life, especially when he adds that freedom is "beset by witch-burners."

But there's another side to the Beard family—the distasteful side, as one might say. In particular it is Mary Ritter Beard, wife of the indignant historian, and she has recently made known her belief that in the future women will get a better break than heretofore. She even takes a public swat at Papa Charles by stating that in the past male historians have too often ignored the fine achievements of their own sex. And who should know that better than she?

For Mrs. Beard has a perfect right to air her opinions—a right by virtue of accomplishments as numerous as her husband's. She too is a Doctor of Philosophy and an author. She's had long experience in suffrage and labor movements, besides travel and study in Europe and the Orient. One of her books, for example, was A Short History of the American Labor Movement, and another, The Rise of American Civilization.

So one of her present conclusions is that women are increasingly important and she quietly explains that mere man's bluster-belt is gradually weakening. That's what she says, as sure as you're a foot high!

What is Mrs. Beard like? Well she is a Hoosier by birth, born in Indianapolis sixty years ago. Like most scholars, women she doesn't pay much attention to her gray hair but dresses it plainly. Yet she is handsome for all that. Her face is strong and her mouth has a suggestion of perpetual amusement—possibly at the male of the species.

The Beards have two children—Miriam and William. Their home is in New Milford, Conn.

To Be Smart Carry Your Chest High

By JACQUELINE HUNT

IF YOU want to look smart above the waistline, do what you can to improve the appearance of your bust. The size of the bust is not so important as the way you carry your chest. Carry your chest high and your breasts will take care of themselves.

When you let your head sag forward and the shoulders droop, unattractive hollows form in front of the shoulders or sometimes the entire chest is scooped inward. Such a condition detracts from your charm and vivacity and spoils normally attractive lines. Spend ten minutes daily at exercises that develop the shoulder, neck and back muscles and fill in the chest hollows. If you tend to be the least bit underweight, try to readjust your diet to add a few pounds. Practice carrying your chest high, breathing deeply at all times.

Here are exercises for developing the chest to supplement those given in yesterday's column:

This one sounds difficult, but once you get used to it, it is not difficult and you can even learn to do it gracefully. Kneel on a rug and sit back on your heels.

Keeping the knees on the floor. Clasp your hands behind the lower back, drop the head backward, with the shoulders well pulled back and the chest broad and expanded.

Keeping the chest, head and hands in this position, bend the upper body forward slowly, with the chest leading and the head well back, until the chest almost touches the floor in front of the knees. Relax for a minute in this position.

Now, with the entire back arched and relaxed, pull in with the abdominal muscles and swing in circles at each side, at the lowest vertebra and working up to the shoulders. The chest and head are the last parts to raise upward. Slowly resume the starting position. Repeat five times at first and increase the number of times as the muscles become stronger. Remember that the chest and shoulders must be well back when the body is upright.

The simple exercise of swinging the arms helps develop shoulder muscles. Stretch each arm out from the shoulders and swing in circles at each side. Next swing the arms up, forward and then back and try to clasp the hands behind you. Try to keep the elbows stiff throughout these exercises. Repeat vigorously ten times.

Overstuffed busts that are the result of fatty deposits do not respond so readily to improvement. A careful diet and a few exercises to normalize the weight if possible. The shoulder and chest exercises described will help strengthen the supporting muscles and will help break down the fatty tissue if the condition hasn't been neglected too long.

If you are serious in your effort to improve the appearance of the bust, these exercises will do a great deal for you, but it may be four months or more before you are satisfied with your figure.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I have always been considered slim and prided myself on keeping down the waistline until of late. Although my waistline is still small, I have started to put on weight at the hips. That makes me rather out of proportion and I would appreciate it so much if you would give me some definite advice on how I can reduce the hips. My measurements are: Waist, 24½, and hips about 34½.—K. A. H."

My hip exercises are too long to reprint here. I will be glad to send you a copy of my leaflet "How to Be Slender," which contains some general reducing exercises, on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. One of the most definite ways I know to reduce hips that have started to take on fat is to ride horseback or swim. These activities are fun as well as good for you, if you can practice them.

QUESTION: "Is it best to remove superfluous hair on the face or to leave it on and bleach it?"—Mrs. Kafka.

There are good depilatories to be used on the face. The newest is a creamy mixture which is spread on, then strips of flannel are pressed over it. After a few moments the strips are pulled off, carrying the hair with them. If you prefer a bleach, make a paste from tablespoon white henna, 3 drops borax and peroxide. Spread over the areas covered with hair and leave on about 5 minutes.

Wide Range for Evening Except for Those Trains

By IRENE VAIL

New York—No change in skirt lengths. On the whole, I think women should be glad of this and of the prevailing catholicity of taste. On all sides one is impressed by the fact that, barring a few exceptions, one may wear just about anything. The definite exception is the short evening dress. Even then there is some reservation necessary in that statement.

Evening dresses all have long skirts—some are longer than others, that's all. The ankle is the limit in one direction, while in the other there really is no limit.

Trains are still worn, although not generally. They represent too much of a problem for the dancer to find on her hand, which is literally where they are. The point is in hoping to put across is that you to be about in shorter evening clothes, although by day you may shorten clothes if it pleases you to do so.

Going completely gaga over the import, as one is so inclined at this season, makes it rather more necessary than usual to keep one eye, at least, glued on our own glittering shop windows. They contain important messages, one of which is that the topcoat, which has such a utilitarian sound, may really be on the imaginative side. For instance, when it is of such a distinctive color as dahlia or fuchsia one finds it particularly pleasing with either gray or navy.

Another combination scoring heavily is beige and black with Parma violet, the violet as the light accessory note. This scheme is most happily worked out with a printed dress, ground color black or beige, a coat, usually black, and accessories violet, including the flower itself.

In passing let me note that designers sponging on the Riviera last summer were so impressed with the importance of linens and cottons in evening wear that they came back with the determination of furthering this fashion on this side of the Atlantic.

QUESTION: "Can you tell me why butlers always have such unusual sounding names? Is it supposed to be fashionable, or what?"—A. B.

ANSWER: A butler is not called by his first name in a familiar way. His surname, therefore, is adopted. Thus if he happens to be Fred Scruggs, he will be known as plain Scruggs to the household. It is the custom to address chauffeurs by their surnames also.

QUESTION: "Is it correct to use a knife for cutting fish? I have been told that fish is a fork food."

ANSWER: Filet of sole may be eaten with a fork alone, and so may any other fish from which the bones have been removed. To eat fish from its bones, however, a knife has to be used. One's plate will look neater, too, and the eating of fish will be made much easier if the bones are separated from the fish first. It is bad form to keep picking bones out of one's mouth.

QUESTION: "Please tell me where a monogram should be placed on writing paper. Is it supposed to be in conjunction with other printed matter on stationery? May it be used on envelopes?"—T. R.

ANSWER: When a monogram is used, it is used alone. It takes the place of name, address and telephone number. It should be placed in the center on the top of the page and does not appear on the envelope.

Cut the loaf and crusts from a loaf of bread and hollow out the center, leaving the sides and bottom about ¾ inch thick. Brush with butter inside and out. Crumble the soft bread from the center and blend with the liquid drained from 1 can of salmon and the meat that has been coarsely flaked and freed from skin and bits of bone. Add ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper and ¼ cup minced onion that have been sautéed lightly in 2 tablespoons melted shortening. Last of all add 1 egg beaten until light and salt and pepper to taste. ## MODERN WOMEN

What Ho! Here's a Law to Compel Wives to Aid Needy Husbands

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

WOMAN'S RIGHTS is a term with a familiar ring. Man's rights sounds less familiar, but it does sound funnier.

One assumes that there isn't any need for men to stand up for their rights but it seems that one isn't altogether right in assuming that. We women, it would appear, have not only rights, but privileges. A good many of the laws are still on the side of femininity.

A news flash from Baltimore tells of one of them—a law that requires a man to support his wife and makes no provision for needy husbands of rich wives.

It develops that unemployed men, with wives amply able to support them, are of relief. Governor Harry W. Nice of Maryland has just received a report to that effect and a recommendation that wives who have money in their own right should be compelled to support, or at least to help, needy husbands. The report states that such husbands are not properly a public care, but a responsibility of a family or individual.

Woman's Obligation
The report also expresses the belief that the law should be changed. Now it is the husband only who is obligated to support the wife. The wife has no obligation to support her husband—no legal obligation, that is. I am sure many wives would feel it a moral obligation.

In fact, the thought occurs to me that there is no such law because the lawmakers thought it unnecessary, women being what they are. Whatever else they may be as a rule they are not shirkers of responsibility. Or are they? I will admit there may be a great difference of opinion on this score. Nevertheless my opinion stands—and is based on my personal encounters with women.

There may be solvent wives who would allow insolvent husbands to go on relief, but I cannot help but think that such wives are in the minority and that even the minority are actuated by what I am sure, they consider good and sufficient cause. Many a husband is forced to support a wife he believes should have no claim on him, which makes one wonder whether the law should not work both ways.

Every so often the idea is advanced that unwanted husbands, like unwanted wives, should be paid off and given an allowance in the form of alimony. I have a sneaking suspicion that such a system is practiced, if not publicized. Among the moneyed contingent—and they are the ones who do most of the divorcing—it seems reasonable to suppose that many women believe it's worth a good stiff sum to rid herself of an undesirable mis-mate. One can easily blame either party for not rushing into print with the details of the settlement. All is fair in love and war. What else, pray, is divorce but war?

European countries are less skittish about arranging monetary matters between men and women, before, during, or after marriage. A recent best seller has as its theme the idea that a man cannot marry the girl of his choice unless he buys an interest in the father's business. There is a young man who is ready to do so and to this young man the father insists his daughter shall plight her troth.

Many a prenuptial agreement or marriage settlement is made to the satisfaction of all parties concerned before there is any public announcement of the engagement.

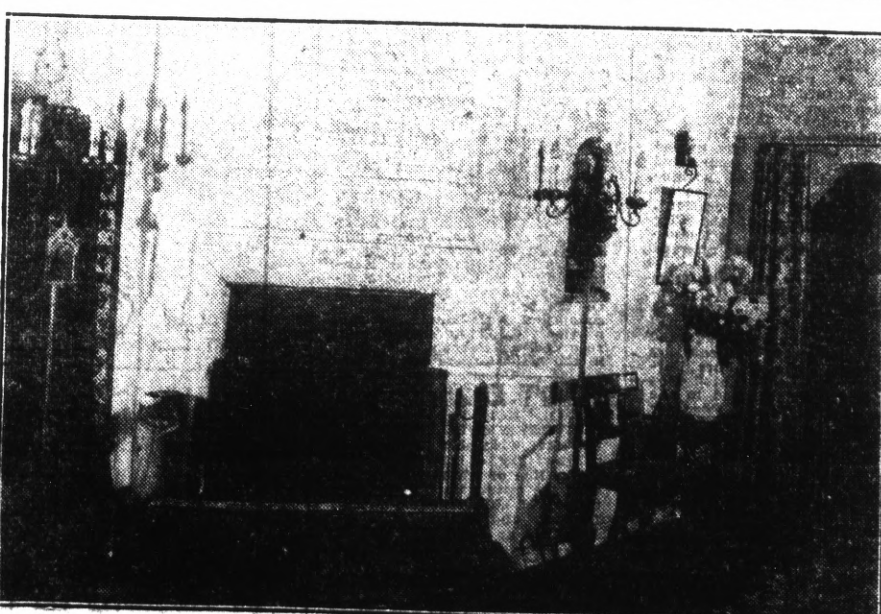

Father's Fat Check
The old European custom has found its way to America and is practiced more often than one might suppose. The presentation of a big fat check from the girl's father—also an old custom but a purely American one—is one method, and an effective one, of shaking daughter off the parental vine. Only we wouldn't dream of calling it a dot.

What a girl does with her money has heretofore been considered pretty much her own affair. The run-of-the-mill husband was willing to let matters ride. It was her money and he expected it to remain so. It was convenient to have to take care of her personal needs. I gather that the run-of-the-mill husband would prefer to be independent, though he'd like assurance of assistance in the case of any emergency. The Maryland records must, therefore, come as something of a shock and set him thinking.

Mrs. Martin will be glad to answer in this column questions of general interest. Mrs. Martin cannot reply individually to every correspondent. Names will not be published. Address her care of this page.

Owners of cars have been asked to fill out a blank containing names and check numbers of passengers.

OFFICIALS PLEASED

Local officials of the WPAU were highly pleased over the order. Recently they served notice on Yard officials that unless their transportation costs were paid relief workers on the project would walk out on March 11.

They pointed out that under WPA orders they were entitled to transportation and they were not receiving it. Instead they were forced to pay approximately $6 a month for transportation to and from work.

More than 1000 WPA workmen from Alameda and Contra Costa counties will benefit by the transportation orders.

This evening the local unit of the WPAU will meet and elect officers for the ensuing year.

New Victim Of Murder Ring Found

A more sinister explanation of his killing was available, in records of 32 other Hindu slayings, stretching back to 1925, when the body of Juala Singh was found in a brush pile near Walnut Creek, Cal.

Kartar, police said, might have incurred the displeasure of a mysterious band of Hindu killers who have disposed of 32 of its fellows in what has been described as a strange sect involved in smuggling Hindus into the United States, then collecting "protection" dues from them under pain of death.

From 1925 to 1933 investigators worked vainly in efforts to uncover some motive for killings which followed that of Juala Singh.

Blair Funeral Held Thursday

Palbearers were Charles Keane, John F. Nutley, James Nutley, George L. Wright, Charles B. Schaefer and Gus Page.

Clemency Plea For Mrs. McCord May Be Urged

MARTINEZ, March 5 — While there were unconfirmed rumors today that the state would ask for clemency for Mrs. Ruth McCord, attorneys for the convicted former Contra Costa county social service bureau director stated this morning there was no change in their plans to give formal notice of appeal Friday afternoon when Mrs. McCord appears for sentence for presenting a false claim for $68.38 to the county.

Mrs. McCord, whose hysterical condition after her conviction caused Sheriff John A. Miller to express fear she might attempt her life, was reported today to have regained her composure.

The former social service director is subject to a sentence of not less than six months nor more than five years in the women's prison at Tehachapi.

There was a growing feeling an application for probation may be filed with Superior Judge A. F. Pray and the appeal abandoned despite the statements of attorneys they will take the case to the higher courts.

It was pointed out locally that while petitions for clemency have no legal status there is precedent in this county for such procedure. Jailers said today that Mrs. McCord was much improved over yesterday, when circumstances caused the sheriff to express frank alarm. She has been visited by a doctor several times.

Sentence of Mrs. McCord, it was revealed today, will occur one year to a day from the time she left here.

No Raids Planned On E. C. Dog Track

MARTINEZ, March 5—Informed that the El Cerrito Kennel Club will reopen next Wednesday, District Attorney Francis P. Healey declared today that he will not seek to interfere with the operation.

"Seven employees of the track are now awaiting trial on gambling charges resulting from a raid last December," Healey said. "I feel a jury should be allowed to determine the issue before we jump in to another case."

Fake Report On Crime Body Is Being Probed

MARTINEZ, March 5—Postal inspectors and local authorities today were investigating the submission to a Pittsburg newspaper of a fake report of "activities" of the Pittsburg city crime commission, said to contain libelous matter. Federal inspectors entered the inquiry because the report, in letter form, was sent through the mails.

C. E. Pfaffenberger and R. M. Huggall, postal inspectors, are making the government investigation. Sheriff John A. Miller is cooperating.

The "report" contains what purports to be the minutes of the crime commission and is said to make libelous statements against prominent Pittsburg residents as well as making disparaging statements about churches and fraternal organizations.

The letter was turned over to authorities by the newspaper.

Fred W. Ford, committee member, whose name was typed in the purported report, was indignantly making a personal investigation.

Ford and other committee members said the findings of the committee, which was appointed after the murder of Patrolman John I. Ford, have not yet been completed. The report will be submitted next week.

Vag Charges Jails Dinner

Charged with vagrancy, Rachel Jacuzzi, 30, of Berkeley, was in the city jail last night, unwilling to pay $10 bail.

According to police reports, Jacuzzi visited Otto Keller's restaurant on Macdonald avenue yesterday morning, ate a meal but refused to pay the $2 cent charge, declaring it was out of reason. Keller called police who tried to persuade the man to pay the bill. When he refused, Keller swore to a vagrancy warrant.

Court Orders Man's Release

MARTINEZ, March 5—Confined to the county jail here on February 26, under sentence to remain until he posted a $1,000 bond to keep the peace, Angelo Franchesch, 38, of Vern Avenue, Richmond, has been released from jail by a court order issued by Justice of the Peace L. F. Grove of San Pablo.

Franchesch was arrested on a complaint signed by Betty Meeker of North Richmond, in which it was claimed he threatened to do her bodily harm. The court ordered him to post a bond to keep the peace or go to jail.

city officials were sponsored by the Alameda Voters League, Dads' Clubs and P. T. A.

The meeting was called after 4,500 high school and grammar school youths walked out of classrooms yesterday and today, protesting being of 14 men by the newly formed school board.

SYMPATHY STRIKES

Cakiam, Beckery and Piedmont high school students opened sympathy strikes, but were persuaded to return to their classes after a few hours' absence.

"Riots" surrounding high school and elementary school buildings formed hand in hand chains to surround more militant pupils from attending classes. Teachers eventually persuaded the picketers to abandon their lines.

THEATERS HELP

Cooperating in the "persuasion" were theaters, which offered "reduced prices for the duration of the strike," the music of a school jazz band which played for an open air dance, and warm sunbathing which made nearby beaches warmly attractive.

Impromptu parades surged back and forth throughout the Alameda business district. Shouting and shouting marchers brandished placards and banners, or carried neatly printed handbills saying, "We want Paden."

PROBE IS ASKED

Paden, for 11 years superintendent, insisted that the City Council and three newly named members of the Board of Education acted without proper authority in appointing Einar Sorenson to his job. He said he had a three-year contract at $6000 a year yet to run.

The Alameda Council of the Parent Teachers Association asked District Attorney Earl Warren and the county grand jury for aid in investigating school and board of education conditions, first adopting resolutions deploring Paden's dismissal.

No Relief Jobs Will Be Given To Ousted 6000

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—UP—The 6000 persons taken off California WPA rolls between now and March 13 must actually be taken off and not simply transferred from one undertaking to another, R. G. Wadsworth, assistant WPA administrator in California, said today.

Federal requirements, ordering that number of persons removed, will not be satisfied by cutting men off some projects and putting them on the San Francisco job where it is desired to speed up work. Wadsworth told Bayly Hopkins, San Francisco WPA administrator.

Wadsworth said as many men could be transferred to the airport work as might be desired but that there must be an actual reduction of 6000 from the State WPA rolls.

Replying to criticism that the removal program was "sudden and unscientific," Wadsworth said the reduction order came so swiftly there was no other course open and that curtailment in the future will be with due regard to available agricultural jobs to absorb the workers.

Haile Accepts Peace Proposal; British Red Cross Unit Is Bombed

FLAG IS HIT

He emphasized that the British camp was laid out in the form of a square while Ethiopian camps always are circular.

Forty bombs were dropped yesterday afternoon. One hit a 40-foot square Red Cross ground flag in the middle of the camp, destroying operating and sterilizing tents.

Melly expressed opinion that the bombing was intentional since the planes had ample opportunity to locate the Red Cross camp in frequent flights. The nearest military camp, he said, was two miles away.

PROTEST IS SENT

LONDON, March 5.—UP—Officials tonight indicated Great Britain will send a stiff protest note to Italy if Addis Ababa reports of the bombing of a British ambulance unit at Korem are verified.

The press received authoritative reminders that Britain has informed Italy constantly of the location of British Red Cross units in Ethiopia. It was emphasized that Rome has been notified when units have moved.

The Korem unit moved recently from Desaye.

"I cautioned them not to use language that would incite people to violence and they promised me they would do everything possible to prevent violence."

Bambrick and Scalse were not under arrest, nor had any warrant been issued for them. They were there by invitation. But before they went they oiled the strike machinery for a finish fight.

One Man Had Broken Her Heart Could Another Man Now Mend It?

LOVESHY By Nelly Graf

MARIANNE was young for so strange a turn to come in her life. She had lost the man she loved on account of money—her lack of it. It seemed to her brutally unjust. Yet here she was committing hardly less an injustice, refusing a man who loved her—because he was poor. Even the fact that it was because of her that he was poor made no difference. She shrank from hurting him, yet she could do nothing else. Her own wounded heart still was not healed. She dared not risk a second scar.
